The Republican Platform.
The National Republican party of the United States assembled in National Convention in the city of Chicago, on the 20th day of May, 1868, make the following declaration of principles:
First—We congratulate the country on the assured success of the reconstruction policy of Congress as embodied in the adoption in the majority of the States of the new Constitution, and in the securing of civil and political rights to all; and it is the duty of the government to sustain those institutions and to prevent the people of those States from being reinitiated to a state of anarchy. (Cheers.)
Second—The guarantees by Congress of equal suffrage to all loyal men in the South was demanded by every consideration of public safety, of gratitude and of justice, and must be maintained while the question of suffrage in all the Southern States properly belongs to the people of those States. (Cheers.)
Third—We denounce all forms of repudiation as a national crime—(prolonged cheers)—and the national honor requires the payment of the public debt in the utmost good faith to all creditors at home and abroad, not only according to the letter, but the spirit of the laws under which it was contracted. (Applause.)
Fourth—It is due to the labor of the nation that taxation should be equalized and reduced as rapidly as the national faith will permit.
Fifth—The national honor requires that it has been the policy of the government of the Union for all time to come, should be extended over a fair period for redemption; and the people of the Union should be induced to interest themselves whenever it can be honestly done.
Sixth—That the best policy to diminish our burden of debt is to issue money at lower rates of interest than we now pay and must continue to pay so long as repudiation, partial or total, open or covert, is threatened. (Applause.)
Seventh—The government of the United States should be administered with the strictest economy, and the appropriations which have been made should be reduced and restricted to the necessities of the nation.
Eighth—We profess to deplore the untimely and tragic death of Abraham Lincoln, and regret the accession of Andrew Johnson to the Presidency, who has acted treacherously to the people who elected him and the cause of the Union, and who has refused to execute the laws, and who has employed his executive powers to render insecure the property, the peace, liberty and life of the citizen, and who has violated the law, and who has denounced the National Legislature as unconstitutional; who has perverted his power every proper attempt at the reconstruction of the States lately in rebellion; who has employed public patronage into an engine of wholesale corruption, and who has been justly impeached for high crimes and misdemeanors; and who has pronounced guilty thereof by the vote of thirty-five Senators.
Ninth—The doctrine of Great Britain and other European powers, that because a man is once a subject he is always so, must be resisted at every hazard by the United States, as a relic of feudal times, not authorized by the law of nations and at war with our national honor and independence. Naturalized citizens are entitled to be protected in all their rights of citizenship as though they were native born, and no citizen of the United States, native or naturalized, shall be liable to arrest and imprisonment by any foreign power, for acts done or words spoken in this country; and if so arrested and imprisoned, it is the duty of the government to interfere in his behalf.
Tenth—Of all who were faithful in the trials of the late war there is no more noble and heroic than the brave soldiers and seamen who endured the hardships of campaign and campaign, and who have been rewarded by the bounty and pensions provided by the laws for these brave defenders of the Union; and the government should be just to the widows and orphans of the gallant dead; and the war of the people—a sacred legacy bequeathed to the nation, and which should be maintained with the same vigor and energy.
Eleventh—Foreign emigration, which in the past has added so much to the wealth, development and resources and increase of power to this nation, the asylum of the oppressed of all nations, should be fostered and encouraged by a liberal and just policy.
Twelfth—This Convention declares itself in sympathy with all the oppressed people which are struggling for their rights.

Office of the Provost Court.
RALEIGH, N. C., April 21, 1868.
The following rules are announced for the Government of this Court, and will be changed whenever it may become necessary.
1st. All pleas must be reduced to writing and sworn to in stating as few words as possible the cause of complaint and the reply to the same, which will close the issue in all civil cases.
2nd. In criminal cases, an affidavit must be made stating the cause of complaint.
3rd. The cost charged by the clerks of the County Courts will be charged in all cases in this Court for the Clerk and Sheriff, or other officer of the Court.
Win. R. Richardson is hereby appointed clerk of said Court.
